VOL. VI. NO. 184 — FRESNO, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1893 — PRICE—5 CENTS

HARRIS ELECTROCUTED

For Poisoning His Young Wife.

THE DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

His Mother Not Granted the Permission of Receiving His Last Words.

SING SING, N. Y., May 8.—Carlyle Harris, the young medical student whose trial and conviction in New York city for poisoning Helen Potts, to whom he had been secretly married, was electrocuted in the prison here today.

His mother and brother had taken final leave of him, but occupied a room in a neighboring hotel, from the window of which the black flag could be seen when hoisted, as a signal that his spirit had taken flight.

The death warrant was read at 8.30. The reading had no visible effect on the condemned man. Half an hour later the prison chaplain spent an hour with him.

At 10.15 o'clock the witnesses were conducted to the execution chamber and the death flag placed in a position to hoist.

He was shaved and had his hair cut at 10.30 o'clock and put on a new suit of clothes. A test of the apparatus had already been made by the electrician, showing a voltage of 1700, and everything satisfactory. Harris was placed in the chair and the execution took place at 10.40 o'clock.

Dr. C. M. Daniels of Buffalo, who had charge of the arrangements in the death chamber and of the autopsy, said the electrocution was the most successful of the seven which he had witnessed. "Harris died without pain," said the doctor, "and I do not see how his execution could have been bettered from a human standpoint."

The autopsy on the body of Harris was completed at 2 o'clock. The result shows that the body was well nourished and healthy. There were signs of slight burning on the inside of the calf of the right leg, but none on the temple.

At 3 o'clock an undertaker drove up to the prison. He procured the prison physician's certificate of the cause of Harris' death, and then drove into the prison grounds. In the wagon was a highly polished oak casket, which was carried into the death chamber where the body of Harris, dressed in a dark suit of prison made goods, reposed upon a table. The body was placed in the casket. The undertaker refused to disclose the plans for the disposition of the body.

The silver plate upon the cover of the casket contained this inscription: "Carlyle W. Harris, murdered May 8, 1893, aged 23 years, 7 months, 15 days.

Mrs. Harris was seen at a hotel this afternoon and said: "My son's last statement was to have been given to me as soon as he was dead, and I have not received it yet. I do not think I shall ever see it, at least not as my boy wrote it. It was my boy's last wish that it be given out today, but I am powerless to carry it out."

Warden Durston was asked for Carlyle Harris' statement which it was understood had been prepared for the press. Durston promised to turn this statement over to Mrs Harris, but this afternoon said he thought it best to submit it to the superintendent of the prison first, and he mailed it to that official this evening.

Jaunting Editors.

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Three Pullman coaches attached to the overland express tonight bore a party of eighty-four members of the California Editorial Association, including several ladies, en route to the World's Fair. At this point a carload of wine, oranges, strawberries, dried and preserved fruits, nuts, etc., were taken on for use during the trip or to be given away. The party will stop one day at Salt Lake and one at Denver. All were in good spirits and anticipate a pleasant journey.

Want it Opened.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The city council tonight unanimously passed a resolution declaring for Sunday opening of the World's Fair grounds, and as representatives of $5,000,000 of stock in the exposition, criticised a financial management which closes the gates one day out of the seven.

Articles Signed.

BOSTON, May 8.—Billy Smith today signed an agreement to box Jack Dempsey at the Coney Island Athletic club on June 30th, under Queensbury rules and five-ounce gloves for $6000, $5500 to go to the winner and $500 to the loser. The principals are not to exceed 142 pounds each, and a forfeit of $500 is placed.

Up for Burglary.

VISALIA, May 8.—W. P. Maddon was sentenced to three years in San Quentin today for burglarizing the Freeman hotel at Hanford on April 24th. He secured $80.

Ground for Reopening.

"Your Honor," said an attorney, rising, "what is the present status of this case—as far as it has gone?"

"I have given a judgment for the residuary legatee under the will," said the Court, "put the costs upon the contestants, decided all questions relating to fees and other charges; and, in short, the estate in litigation has been settled, with all controversies, disputes, misunderstandings and differences of opinion thereunto appertaining."

"Ah, yes, I see," said the attorney, thoughtfully, "we are making progress—we are getting on famously."

"Progress?" echoed the Judge—"progress? Why, sir, the matter is concluded!"

"Exactly, exactly; it had to be concluded in order to give relevancy to the motion that I am about to make. Your honor, I move that the judgment of the court be set aside and the case reopened."

"Upon what ground, sir?" the Judge asked in surprise.

"Upon the ground," said the attorney, "that after paying all fees and expenses of litigation and all charges against the estate there will still be something left."

"There may have been an error," said his honor—, "the court may have underestimated the value of the estate. The motion is taken under advisement."
—Ambrose Bierce in Examiner.

Rain on the West Side.

Telephone reports from Panoche state that the rainfall yesterday morning amounted to fourteen hundredths of an inch, and forty-two at Tres Pinos. It is stated that it will be of but little benefit to grain as most of it was already dried up.

WANT A REDUCTION.

A Raymond Firm Opposed to Discrimination.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—At today's meeting of the railroad commission Shaw Brothers, merchants and lumbermen of Raymond, Fresno county, filed a complaint of unjust discrimination by the Southern Pacific against shippers in that section who, they say, are obliged to pay excessive rates on cord wood and wheat from Raymond to Fresno, while the rates of the Sanger and Porterville branch of road for these same commodities are about one-half those of the Raymond-Fresno branch. They had complained to the railroad company, which had reduced the tariff from Raymond to Madera, where they ship no wood or wheat. The commission will confer with the Southern Pacific in relation to the matter.

Favored the Itata.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—United States Judges McKenna, Morrow and Hawley, sitting as a circuit court of appeals, today affirmed the judgment of the United States district court of Southern California, in dismissing the libel against the Chilean steamer Itata, and releasing the vessel and 2000 cases of rifles, which she had aboard when seized by the United States marshal in San Diego harbor two years ago.

The libel filed in the Itata case charges a deliberate violation of section 5283 of the United States Revised Statutes, and set forth that the Itata had been fitted out with the intent to cruise and commit hostilities against the government of Chile, with which the government of the United States was at peace.

The decision of the circuit court is very lengthy, and reviews the details of the late Chilean revolution and overthrow of President Balmaceda. The court find that the state of affairs as alleged in the libel is not borne out by the evidence.

League Republicans.

LOUISVILLE, May 8.—Delegates to the convention of the National Republican clubs are coming in on every train. The State League convention will be called to order in the afternoon, and probably an adjournment will be had on Wednesday afternoon in order that the delegates may attend the Derby.

A mass meeting will be held at Phoenix Hill park Wednesday night, and each state will be represented by one speaker. A business session will be held Thursday morning. Thursday afternoon the annual convention of the American Republican College League will be held. The Woman's Republican Association of the United States will hold a convention, but the exact time is not fixed.

Knew All About It.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Henry Baddeley, who was shot and killed last Friday by Mrs. Worthington, today resulted in a charge of murder against the woman and her husband, William Worthington, as accessory before] the fact. Worthington is claimed to have encouraged the woman to committing the deed and purchased the revolver for that purpose. He was arrested.

A RIGHTEOUS REPROOF

THE MISCALCULATION OF A JAIL BIRD.

The Kangaroo Court's Session in the Absence of the Jailer.

How often do we hear people who know nothing about the matter remark that it does no good for the ladies, with their gentle kindness, to come to the jail for the purpose of improving the moral character of the poor unfortunates who are incarcerated behind the bars.

There was a strange scene in the county jail of Fresno yesterday, which will go far to disprove any such belief or assertion. There were many ladies in the jail during the regular Sunday afternoon service, so kindly allowed by Sheriff Scott and his jailer, Mr. Connolly.

During the service, while nine out of ten of the prisoners were attentively listening to the sweet sing and prayers, and many of them devoutly kneeling during the prayer, one unruly member got up, knocked a box or two over with as much noise as possible, and with an oath and a heavy tread walked to the back of the jail. Strange to say there was not a sound from the other prisoners, and everything remained quiet until after the visitors had left the jail, at which time Mr. Connelly with his usual gallantry escorted them to the door.

He had no sooner gotten out of the way than the offender was arrested by the sheriff of the kangaroo court, brought before the judge and in short order tried and convicted of the crime of disturbing the peace and using profane language during a religious meeting in the jail. He was sentenced by the judge to twenty lashes, which sentence was immediately executed in order to get through with it during the absence of Mr. Connelly. The lashes were given with a will, and he yelled at every lick. He richly deserved what he got and there will be no more trouble of that kind hereafter.

This is the first time that the kangaroo court has been allowed to punish any prisoners during this administration, as Mr. Connelly is very strict regarding that matter, but advantage was taken of the jailers' absence and the prisoner was at least saved a period in the dark cell. The jailer thought that he had been punished enough—when he found it out.

It is safe to say that such a thing has never occurred in a jail before, and certainly goes to prove conclusively that the ladies who are engaged in this good and loving work will receive their reward. What these dear ladies in their loving kindness are doing cannot be entirely in vain. Some good must come from such unselfish work among unfortunate prisoners, many of whom have never been taught that there is a God. ONE OF THE PRISONERS.

YE SEEKER AFTER OFFICE

Is Sat Down Upon Quite Hard

BY THE DISPENSER OF PLUMS

Mr. Cleveland Will No Longer Be Harrassed By Importuning People.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The President's order closing the White House to office seekers formed the chief topic of conversation among politicians today.

Senators and representatives with large and active constituencies inclined to favor it, as they are relieved of a great deal of pressure from importuning followers.

Politicians say the order will have the effect of making a close corporation of the patronage system, and the President will be debarred from hearing the voice of the people on the fitness of candidates.

In opposition to these opinions, it is urged that the President has borne with patience personal solicitations of people for two months, and that as a matter of fact the personal presence of applicants is seldom necessrry.

It is argued that a denial of personal interviews does not cut off the right of citizens to make indorsements or put forward candidates. The Post says he has now had more important business which demanded his attention than he had during the entire four years of his previous administration. To these matters he had no time to devote himself on account of the crowds of men continually demanding his time to importune him for positions. The time for human endurance had come to an end, and something had to be done.

THE PYTHIAN KNIGHTS.

A Pleasant Time in Camp on the San Joaquin.

Wawona Division, Uniformed Rank of Knights of Pythias had a great time on the sandy San Joaquin last Sunday. On Saturday afternoon the division of thirty swords, Capt. R. R. Murray commanding, accompanied by Col. W. D. Crichton and Capt. N. P. Justy, adjutant, Capt. McDonald, commissary of the staff and Col. L. Burks of the brigade staff pitched their tents in the grove on Wood's ranch on the river and prepared to make a night of it soldier fashion.

Accompanying them as guests were Capt. Led Winchell of Company C, N. G., and Sergeant J. D. Jones with fourteen artillerymen. The Park band was on hand to add inspiration to the campaign.

At 7.30 Sunday morning came guard mounting, after which the band manifested a desire to take a hand in the scrimmage and challenged the uniformed rank to a game of base ball in the cow pasture, with a yarn ball and pick handle bat. Harry Doble umpired according to the rules laid down in an Ayer's almanac and for once the game fully merited its name.

At 11 o'clock a salute from the artillery announced the arrival of Gen. M. W. Muller, who with Major J. E. Hughes of his staff were received as special guests at Col. Crichton's headquarters. Col. H. A. Trevelyan accompanied by ladies also was the guest of Col. Crichton.

The Park band gave a concert in the forenoon and again in the afternoon—an hour on each occasion, which added much to the general enjoyment.

At 2.30 p. m. battalion drill was conducted and the line reviewed by General Muller. At 7.30 p. m. the division broke camp, thus ending an enjoyable outing and at the same time giving the members some field experience.

Quite a number of people went out from the city to visit the camp and report a delightful time.

At the Barton Tonight.

Of Mr. Neil Burgess and "The County Fair," which is to play at the Barton opera house tonight after the successful run which the play had at Stockwell's theater, the San Francisco Morning Call had the following to say upon its initial performance there:

Burgess' "County Fair" must be a timely and most acceptable offering to the San Francisco public, for the Stockwell auditorium was crowded in every part last evening to enjoy the quiet and genuine good humor that prevades it. Neil Burgess has the part of Abigail Prue, the good-hearted New England old maid, entirely for his own. There is no mistake in saying that "The County Fair" is a much better presentation now than when it was first produced in this city. Mr. Burgess has not been idle with this profitable bit of dramatic property, and every season there are valuable additions made to it, particularly as regards the clever machine horse race, fully described in last Sunday's Call. This has now become so perfect an illusion that it almost bears the stamp of a real turf struggle, and Coald Molasses, the old lady's winning horse, has a high place in the affections of the excited audience.

The general cast of characters is better, too, than it was before. The peculiar eccentricities of Abigail (Mr. Burgess) are more floridly portrayed; the rural female Yankee type of a certain class cannot be better conveyed. The Tuggs (played by Annie Blancke), a brand plucked from the burning vice of the New York streets and sheltered in the arms of the good-hearted Abigail, we have a true Five Points child in whom affection attention is just beginning to heal the scars made by early neglect. The occasional breaking out of the old life in the midst of the new, shown in the speech and actions of the rescued waif, is one of the finest touches in this dramatic picture, and does great credit to the constructive talent of the author, Charles Barnard. E. S. Metcalf's Otis Tucker is also a well sustained character and, in their way, the less important parts are played carefully and well.

Misses Edith and Mollie Kennedy, Miss Laura Lynn and John Hertweck made a flying trip to the San Joaquin river last Sunday on bicycles.

IF had comes to worst Mr. Mackay might soak his wife's diamonds for enough to pay his doctor bill.

THE Visalia creamery is in operation again. Fresno offers splendid locations for two or three of these institutions in the surrounding colonies.

SPRING styles are fully on now, and the seasonable jag is noticeably lighter than that which prevailed during the winter. There is less "straight goods" in it.

JUDGE WAYNE says: "A politishan will rub mighty close to the devil for a fat government job." Most of them pay his agent, the political boss, a liberal commission.

THE President has now added insult to neglect. He was quick to anticipate possible suffering by the Chinese population, but ignores the fact that the political population is suffering indescribably all the while.

THE Stockton Mail is in favor of state division, on the ground that the state is too long. It don't seem to be any too long, though, when it comes to paying the expenses of running itself. It is rather "short" just now.

WHILE SECRETARY GRESHAM is preparing to tear reciprocity up by the roots the British Iron Trade Association is calling the attention of the British secretary of foreign affairs to the fact that American goods have obtained control of the Cuban markets through our treaty with Spain.

THE doctors who are trying to bleed millionaire Mackay to the tune of $12,500 for professional services are likely to earn a portion of their bill in the effort to collect it. Mackay is pretty liberal sometimes, but when it comes to a matter of business it takes fine work and plenty of it to get the best of him.

NATURE seems to be in a devastating mood this spring. Destructive floods and tornadoes have followed each other in quick succession for months, visiting the different sections of the country with impartiality, excepting California, of course. With the late tornadoes in Oklahoma and elsewhere it was hoped that the work of destruction might cease. But now comes another succession of floods. A levee of the Mississippi was broken near St. Louis, and the town of Brooklyn is inundated. Southern Illinois has been visited by a terrific rain storm, and large numbers of live stock have been swept away. St. Vincent, in Minnesota, is flooded by an overflow of the Red river. It would almost seem as though wind and water were vying with each other as to which could work the greater damage.

THE reported uprising among the Navajos directs public attention to one of the most interesting Indian tribes within the territories of the United States. The Navajos occupy a reservation of some 12,000 square miles, in the northwestern portion of New Mexico and the northeastern corner of Arizona. It is said to contain rich gold and silver mines and has immensely valuable resources from an agricultural and pastoral standpoint. The lands and possessions of the Navajos have always been guarded with vigilant jealousy from the encroachment of whites. The Navajos are decidedly superior in intellectual and physical attainments to their cousins, the Apaches. Though not an especially warlike race, the Navajos have displayed extraordinary valor in defending their territory. Before their domain was annexed by the United States Mexico had made repeated but fruitless attempts to subdue them. At first Americans were equally unfortunate. No less than six military expeditions sent against them by this government ended in defeat and sometimes in disaster. The Navajo warriors remained unconquered, and continued their depredations on white traders and cattle until Colonel Kit Carson took them in hand during the civil war. His expedition penetrated their fastnesses and took 7000 of them prisoners. These were transported to another reservation, and kept there at great expense to the government and loss of life and health to themselves for five years. Then they were permitted to return to their old home, their present reservation. The Navajos have not given the government any serious trouble to the present time. They have devoted themselves to stock raising, agriculture and weaving the famous Navajo blankets from native wool. Some of these are fancifully woven and extraordinary creations. They bring from $80 to $150 each. Those of inferior grade are purchased by neighboring Indians who prefer them to the government blankets. Cotton is also woven and the Navajos go decently and comfortably clad. Stock raising is their principal pursuit and source of wealth. They have more than a quarter of a million of horses and in the neighborhood of a million sheep, besides extensive herds of cattle and goats. They raise wheat, corn, beans, potatoes, pumpkins and melons in considerable quantities. The tribe are nearly self-sustaining and while far from communistic in their customs, divide their personal property freely, even to their last meal, with their needy or improvident brethren. Scarcity of water has induced about a third of the Navajos to leave the reservation and settle on the public domain. These have naturally come in contact with the white settlers, and continual friction has resulted. This is no doubt the cause of the recent outbreak. If the Navajos have generally determined upon war, the government troops have some warm work before them. There are about 18,000 of these Indians. They could send an army of 4000 braves into the field, which, fighting behind the natural fortifications afforded by their wild and rugged country, and sustained by their accumulated supplies of animal and other food, would prove exceedingly formidable. But the cooler heads among them will, in all likelihood, see that ultimate defeat and irretrievable disaster to themselves would be the outcome of a conflict with the United States.

BIRTHDAY POEM.

Written for the REPUBLICAN.

Si this is the day of my Birth
I will rite you a sort of a song
thank god I am today top of Erth
But I here I will not Be thair long

I was Born the six day of may thirty too and I was Ether to late or to Soon
I think By the life I went thru
I was Born in the dark of the Moon

I live a mountanions life
I have nothin to love or to fere and Si if I had me a wife
I dont think she wold Stay with me here

I am alone the most of my time always in fler and alarm
then I think of the old polts rime
o Solitude whair is thy Cha m

I have ben in this world a long time and must soon to an other sphere
But in order to make my vers rime
I must Say I wold rather Stay here

age is onarbel Si so tha say
But here I will tel you the truth
If I Cold have the hool thing my one way
I wood trade of som onot for yuth up the rest of lifes hill I must pull and doo the Best that I Can and the rest of my dais being fool go down to the grave like a man deth Cums les not murmor or sy or Evcon Be Sad or florn

It is as natural for a human to die as it is for one to Be Born great nature Creatid all

She Can take os a way in an our at her Shrine I houbly fall and mekley ECknolage her power

Pine Ridge, May 7.

A POWERFUL FRIEND.

I want to be a Chinee,
Six Companies my law
And bigger'n any President
A Melican ever saw;
Oh, then I'd bid defiance
To bluecoats to the end,
And see the laws suspended,
With Cleveland as my fiend.
—Stockton Mail.

An Election Illustration.

Representative John J. O'Neill is back with an election story: "Just before the cataclysm," he said, "I met a Republican friend from Colorado. He is opposed to the president's silver views. 'Mark my works,' he remarked, 'Harrison will lose Colorado and Nevada sure. But he will be elected—by less votes than last time, to be sure, but he will get there all right enough.' I saw him after the fray, when a man could not throw a brick after dark without striking a crazy Democrat. 'How about it?' said I. 'John,' he responded, 'nothing so well illustrates my position and Harrison's position as the story of the man who had the tooth pulled. "Boys," he said to his friends at the grocery, "I expected to be hurt a little, but I did not expect him to yank out every joint of my backbone and wave it before my face."'"—Washington Post.

Steady Gains Are Best.

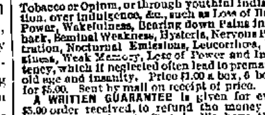

The experience of the man who recently sold his interest in a large manufacturing concern near Boston for over $500,000—a large part, if not the whole of which he invested in western lands and Nova Scotia gold mines—and who a few days ago found himself so much impoverished by his transactions that he was unable to meet a note for $703 and had to go to jail, should be a warning to other men who are not satisfied with the constant and legitimate profits of a good New England business, but who wish to wake up Goulds or Vanderbilts after the sleep of a single night.—Manufacturers' Gazette.

Adorns His Profession.

Mr. George W. Childs of the Philadelphia Ledger was right in telegraphing to Harrisburg refusing to permit himself to become a candidate for the United States senate. No office in the world could add to the honors Mr. Childs has earned and wears so modestly in the field of journalism.—New York Advertiser.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT PURsuant to the provisions of Section 2643, subdivision 5, and Section 2646, subdivisions 1 and 2, of the Political Code of the State of California, the Board of Supervisors of Fresno County will receive sealed bids up to and including the 18th day of May, 1893, at 2 o'clock p.m. of said day, for the construction of a wagon road as per plans and specifications to be seen at the office of the County Surveyor of Fresno County.
Point of commencement of said road is at the end of the present graded road at the sw corner of the se¼ of the sw¼ of section 33, in twp 13 s, r 26 e, and continuing on a survey as located by J. S. Bedford, to a point on C. G. Wright's place, in section 3, twp 14 s, r 26 e; thence on a survey located by George L. Hoxie, County Surveyor, from said point in section 3 to the Sequoia Mill, in section 35, twp 13 s, r 27 e, a total distance of 11½ miles.
Each bid is to be accompanied by a deposit or certified check in the sum of $100, as security that the successful bidder will enter into a contract with the Board, together with a good and sufficient bond to be approved by said Board, in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the contract price, conditional for the faithful performance of the contract.
The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Attest: W. A. SHEPHERD, Seal Clerk.

Summons.

In the Superior Court of the County of Fresno, State of California.
M. Hart, plaintiff, vs. Isaac Ericson, T. A. Ripperdan, James Arnold, J. B. Lankershelm, A. W. Scholle, Mrs. I. Van Nuys, Mrs. A. L. Lankershelm, a widow, T. Stewart White, Thomas Friant and R. W. Dowda, defendants.
Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Fresno, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said county.
The people of the State of California send greeting to Isaac Ericson, T. A. Ripperdan, James Arnold, J. B. Lankershelm, A. W. Scholle, Mrs. I. Van Nuys, Mrs. A. L. Lankershelm, a widow, T. Stewart White, Thomas Friant and G. W. Dowda, defendants.
YOU ARE HEREBY REQUIRED TO APPEAR in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the Superior Court in and for the county of Fresno, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the day of service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.
The said action is brought to obtain the judgment and decree of Court that that certain contract, bearing date February 11th, 1891, by and between the plaintiff and Isaac Ericson, T. A. Ripperdan and James Arnold, be cancelled and annulled; that the defendants be enjoined and debarred from ever asserting any right, title, claim or interest in and to the said contract and the property described therein, which said property is fully described in the complaint of the plaintiff herein, to which you are referred for full particulars; that the plaintiff be let into possession of said property and the defendants and all of them be ousted and ejected therefrom; for his costs of suit and general relief.
Plaintiff alleging that he was on the 14th day of February, 1891, the owner and entitled to the possession of the property described in said contract; that on said day he made and entered into a certain contract to and with the said defendants, Isaac Ericson, T. A. Ripperdan and James Arnold; that the other defendants have or claim to have some interest in or to the same, and that the same is subject to and subsequent to the contract and rights of the plaintiff; that default has been made in the provisions of said contract; that the defendants or some one of them are in possession of said property.
All of which is more fully set out in the complaint on file herein, a copy of which is herewith served, and to which you are hereby specially referred for further particulars.
And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will cause your defaults to be entered and apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint.
Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court in and for the county of Fresno, state of California, this 19th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety three.
Seal. W. A. SHEPHERD, Clerk.
By L. R. WILLIAMS, Deputy Clerk.

FRESNO'S DISPLAY.

Its Inside History by a Commissioner.

WHAT IS MOST NEEDED NOW

An Exhibit of Raisins in the Competitive Building, and a Show of Fresh Fruit.

Mrs. M. B. Stuart, a member of the Fresno County's World's Fair Commission, was interviewed yesterday on the subject of Fresno county's exhibit at Chicago, many conflicting and uncomplimentary things having been said regarding it.

The lady was asked whether there was any truth in the statement made in the Examiner some time ago to the effect that Fresno had not a raisin in sight.

"I wish to correct that misstatement" was the reply. "Fresno is to have a raisin exhibit in the county space in the state building. But that is all.

"And that is exactly where the trouble lies. If we had such a display as we should have in the National Horticultural competitive building we would have received due honorable mention of it. When Mr. Fowler was urging upon us the grave importance of having a competitive display he said, 'You will find that the press will give little recognition outside of the competitive building,' and it has begun to come true. The quantity of raisins purchased for display was 1408 pounds, for which 10 cents a pound in the sweat box was paid. In addition to that eight and a half days time at $6 per day was paid to the buyer, making them cost 13 cents a pound. One thousand pounds was in one lot, and W. M. Williams, one of the fruit committee, refused to audit the bill on account of the quality.

"Premiums for raisins were offered by the commission, and 140 pounds of raisins were secured at an outlay of $52. From these the World's Fair exhibit was packed at the Hedge Row Vineyard Packing House leased by Noble Bros. and under the direction of Miss Hatch, one of the county commissioners. That it would be a choice exhibit no one doubted who knew of her long experience in raisin growing. But she herself stated that many of them would not do for display goods, and she obtained the consent of the commission to use them for free distribution. It was feared that the only exhibit of our leading product, however choice, would be so small as to be inadequate to fill the measure of public expectation.

"The other branch of the raisin exhibit is the free distribution boxes. The ladies of the association undertook in a spirit of zeal and enthusiasm to provide a souvenir of Fresno county, to be given to the millions of people who were expected to visit the fair.

"But of all the donations promised less than 6000 pounds were brought in and a large portion of that was of inferior quality.

"The ladies first asked for $500 of the appropriation, but having used $300 in the purchase of county badges asked for an additional $250 to pay for the packing of the boxes that it had cost $250 to buy. Of the 25,000 boxes bought 14,222 have been packed and sent on to Chicago. The ladies' association was given also an assistant superintendent at a salary of $150 per month and railroad fare both ways, making about $1000 more, making $1750 drawn or to be drawn by the ladies' association. This, with $1000 for the superintendent's salary and fare, left no funds available for placing a raisin display in the competitive building.

"Let us think about it. Southern California has a fine citrus display in the state building, a magnificent one in the competitive building, a fine raisin display in the state building and, as telegrams inform us, a large space for raisin display in the competitive department. Fresno has a raisin display and a very small citrus showing in the state building only.

"When a man like Commissioner La Rue will receive concessions of space and urge us by telegram to take advantage of it, it is because from his position there he sees the extreme necessity for it. Colonel Forsyth does not urge the offer of his raising, but says we can buy them and have the labels free, and that there is yet time.

"It would seem now that we might bury our antagonisms and pull together to get this one thing accomplished—a good raisin display in the competitive building. In the winter a design was submitted to me by an architect here that was for that purpose original and beautiful, that surmounted by a grand old raisin bear would bid defiance to critics and competition. Will our business men here in this county whose vital interests are concerned in this matter take this matter up and act promptly?

"The prevalence of cyclones and the freezing out of fruit trees in the south and east during the past season will make people look to this coast for homes and that Fresno may have her share of that immigration a good fresh fruit display would be a great inducement.

"I have already shipped for him one crate of J. P. Johnson's fine strawberries and will keep on sending all fruits that owners will donate to the competitive display and if that can be done all summer much good will surely follow."

An Early Curtain.

Neil Burgess finds it necessary to begin his performances at the Barton tonight at 7.30. This arrangement was made in order that the theater goers of Fresno should witness in "The County Fair" a full and complete performance. It will be remembered in this production the use of two carloads of scenery are employed which, together with the six horses and the special machinery used in the great race scene, must need a great deal of time in having the different acts set hence, to give a thorough entertainment and using the same mechanical effects that characterized the production of "The County Fair" in San Francisco, it becomes necessary to begin at the hour above mentioned.

Sagacious Tourists.

Mrs. D. H. James, Mrs. Tillotson and J. H. Beach of New York, and Mrs. Van R. Pearson, Miss Pearson and Thomas H. Pearson of Niagara Falls, were detained at Berenda yesterday while on the way to Yosemite valley. The surroundings of Berenda looked so primitive that they came to Fresno to spend the night. They left this morning.

The funeral of Alexander Stamp took place from Stephens & Bean's undertaking parlors last Sunday morning. The funeral was under the auspices of the A.O.F.W.

SIERRA FOREST RESERVE.

One Township Not Included in the Proclamation.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—Many inquiries are made concerning the reservation of public lands by the President's proclamation of March 21, 1893, creating the "Sierra Forest Reserve."

The only township in this district (of the former reserve) not included in the President's proclamation is township 12 south, range 25 east M.D.M. This township will be restored to settlement, entry and other proper disposition under the public laws, May 25, 1893.

I think this would interest some of your readers.

TEMPTING THIEVES.

AN OLD AND FAMILIAR WAIL AGAIN.

A Farmer's Buggy Looted Last Night While He Attended the Play.

Late last night an able-bodied, well-lunged and unusually level headed vineyardist assailed the darkness of the night with his vociferous demands for a policeman.

Nothing but the immediate presence of the constabulary would soothe his feelings. A star of the thirty-third magnitude was found and upon inquiry learned that the son of toil was a victim of misplaced confidence in adjacent mankind. He had been robbed.

When soothed sufficiently to state the outlines of the case it turned out that the trimmer of vines had purchased a lot of groceries for the ranch and, being a kind hearted man, had included some "goodies" for the youngsters at home. All these he placed carefully and securely in his buggy, and thence to the Barton opera house to catch the Bostonians bass tone.

Whatever the degree of his enjoyment of the play there was no doubt of his deep disgust upon the conclusion of the entertainment. His buggy was hitched on a side street and although he was only gone about two hours some one had taken advantage of that brief absence and purloined his provisions, and the stores were now all closed.

His demands were moderate. He only wanted to know why the police "had not kept watch over his things." It was evident that their profuse explanations did not satisfy him that they had been diligent in guarding public peace and private property and he let the electric light extinguish itself on his unappeased wrath.

A rather stylish turnout containing an elegant robe, whip and wraps was hitched on a dark side of the street near the opera house while the owner and his family were attending the performance.

One policeman had to dodge around every few minutes to see that some of the light-fingered gentry did not get away with the outfit.

Such carelessness on the part of people coming into town can result in but one thing—the loss of their property. It is a temptation to thieves and as vehicles are numerous and the number of police limited, some of them must go unguarded and thefts will occur, and the careless losers thus pay for their education.

DESPERATE BURGLARS.

One of Them Fires Six Shots at His Pursuers.

Several burglaries were reported last week from Butler station and a watch was set in that neighborhood which resulted in the capture of Thomas Chase and James McMullen.

The house of G. A. Fayle, section foreman, was broken into by Chase, who stole Fayle's revolver. When Fayle and several others pursued Chase the burglar fired six shots at Fayle out of the revolver he had stolen.

Chase and McMullen were taken before Justice of the Peace Austin yesterday. Chase was charged with an assault with intent to commit murder and with burglary. McMullen was charged with burglary. Bail was fixed at $2000 each, in default of which the prisoners were sent to jail to await examination.

Sheep for Retrievers.

Evans and Sontag, so rumor declares, lately visited a herder in Nevada and purchased a couple of sheep. It is probable that they intend to train the animals to retrieve detectives. But for this probability a question might arise as to the wisdom of the bandits going into the sheep business.—Examiner.

Mass Meeting of Raisin Growers

Back From the Fair.

R. N. Barstow returned yesterday from Boston and Chicago. While in Chicago he dropped into the California building at the fair, and reports the California and Fresno exhibits as being very creditable. The roof above that part of the building allotted to the Fresno exhibit was not completed in time for the opening, greatly to the disappointment of many central Californians.

A PETRIFIED WOMAN

Said to Have Been Found in Fresno,

ON EXHIBITION IN VIRGINIA

The Original Is Still Alive—Professor Benton Says That Flesh Does Not Petrify.

Professor Thomas L. Heaton received the following letter yesterday from Thomas E. Hodges, A.M., principal of Marshall college, Huntington, W. V.:

"Though unknown to you personally, I venture to write for information as to the matter of circular inclosed. A petrified body has been on exhibition here for two or three weeks, and is to all appearances a genuine petrifaction. Indeed I cannot see how such a thing could have been cast or made artificially—yet many think that it is (to use a common but expressive word) a fake.

"May I trouble you to tell me if you know anything about it, and if it was found as stated in your county?"

The circular displays the full length figure of a recumbent woman, with magnificently shaped limbs and bust. The names of about 100 M.D.'s and ministers of the Gospel are appended to a statement that "We the undersigned scientists, physicians and educators have carefully examined the California petrified woman, and pronounce it a genuine human body petrified."

George W. Peck, M.D., of Omaha, certifies: "I have made a thorough chemical and microscopical examination of the California petrified woman. In a section I found blood corpuscles and epithelial cells in almost their original perfection. Scientifically I pronounce it a genuine petrified human body."

The body is alleged to have been found on the margin of Bitter creek in Fresno county.

"In this weird locality," says the circular, "the stone god reigns everywhere, and on every hand rabbits, frogs, snakes, birds, wood in many forms, in fact countless numbers of things, both animal and vegetable, are found which have been transmuted into hard, solid stone, and it is therefore not at all strange that the body of this woman shared the common lot of the animal and vegetable kingdoms in that strange locality."

There is no doubt that the petrifaction is genuine because the young woman whose shapely body formed the core for the cement cast resides in this county and has many admirers.

And now comes Professor Heaton, who throws his gauntlet in the midst of the one hundred and odd doctors of Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska, and Kansas City, Missouri, and boldly declares that there can be no such thing as petrified flesh.

"Flesh," said the learned Professor to a reporter yesterday, "may be preserved in a peat bog or in ice, but it has never been found petrified and never will be. Nothing of rapid decay will petrify. Wood will petrify because it is of slow decay and its particles are replaced by the lime in solution. The petrified woman is simply an artificial stone or cement image moulded from the cast of a living or dead woman."

PERSONALS.

Captain James Cottle of Liberty is visiting this city.

A Nervy Prisoner.

Frank Sanchez, a trusty who ran away from the jail here and was recaptured in Merced, is a nervy man.

He was taken before Justice of the Peace Austin yesterday on the charge of misdemeanor—escaping from jail. To the astonishment of the court he pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. The case was set for May 11th at 1.30 p.m., and the prisoner was sent to jail in default of $500 bonds.

A Mooted Question.

There is considerable discussion in Fresno as to how the wonderful cough remedy, which has done so much good here, came to be know as "974." It certainly has cured more than 974 chronic colds in this community. Some folks think that it got its name from having cured coughs and colds after 973 other remedies had failed. Possibly Buker & Colson will explain the seeming mystery that surrounds the name of this popular remedy.

OFFICIAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

A Correspondent Who Thinks Sheriff Hensley Should Pay.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—I saw in the paper that a bill had been presented to the Board of Supervisors by members of the militia companies for services alleged to have been rendered by it in guarding the jail against an anticipated attack by Evans and Sontag.

When asked who had authorized the employment of the men I believe the reply was that Sheriff Hensley had. If such was the case I would suggest that the bill be presented to him or his bondsmen.

There have been too many raids on the public funds of Fresno county of late, and it is high time that the reckless squandering of the taxpayers' money should be rebuked. Economy should now be the watchword of the city and county officials to whom the expenditure of the public money is intrusted.

Let all extravagant officials remember the fate of the Triangle. TAXPAYER.

Porterville Post, No. 167, Department of California G.A.R., was organized last Saturday night at Porterville by Fred Banta, senior vice deputy commander, assisted by Henry Russell, commander of Atlanta post.

The new post starts with twenty-seven charter members, with almost a certainty that its membership will increase to seventy-five during the year, as a good many veterans reside in that part of Tulare county.

SAVED BY A HAT.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE OF JUDGE GEORGE A. NOURSE.

A Heavy Brick Crushes Into His Silk Tile After Ricochetting. No Damage.

Judge George A. Nourse had an escape from death yesterday that was close enough to have split a hair.

The Judge left his office on Mariposa street, over the Bank of Central California, with some important legal papers that he had prepared for filing. As he was walking into the basement entrance of the court house with that deliberate and dignified manner so characteristic of the Judge a brick fell from some part of the uncompleted structure, and descending with accelerated rapidity came to a halt on the top of the Judge's head.

There were two fortuitous circumstances which prevented the Judge from being slain outright. One was that the brick so carelessly let fall struck upon a projecting timber and ricochetted at an angle instead of falling vertically. The force of the impact, therefore, not being vertical merely smashed the Judge's silk hat off the Judge's head without injuring the Judge's head at all.

The other fortuitous circumstance was that the Judge, in deference to the dictates of Nineteenth century civilization, wore a plug hat instead of the slouch of the more plebeian Californian. Hence he escaped unharmed.

The Judge did not display the slightest trace of nervousness, but filed his papers as calmly as if nothing out of the way had happened.

THEY RODE AWAY.

Two Youngsters Purloined a Pony to Attend a Picnic.

Yesterday morning J. W. Conger on K street found that some one without his consent had borrowed his pony, saddle and bridle during the previous night. He notified the sheriff's office and in company with Deputy Peek traced the animal in a northerly direction to the San Joaquin where they found it in company with two small boys, Charles Utley and Milton Lee, attending a picnic. The trio were brought back and the boys will appear before a minor court today to explain their escapade.

The parents of the boys are very respectable people, but the youngsters are inclined to be a little wild—too wild for their own good or the good of the community as are many other juveniles hereabout. Mr. Conger was naturally greatly annoyed over the temporary loss of the animal and the trouble of tracing it, but manifested no vindictive spirit towards the young culprits; on the contrary expressed sympathy for their parents whose feelings are deeply grieved by the matter.

HANDSOME GEORGE

Attacked by a Woman on the Street Yesterday.

IT WAS NOT HIS FAULT

She Was Temporarily Insane—Policeman Smith Complimented for His Gallantry.

George Millikin is a handsome young man, but he never until yesterday realized the force of the poet's expression:

"Dowered with the fatal gift of beauty."

He was standing on J street yesterday afternoon in front of the Fiske block when a good-looking young woman approached him and said:

"You knocked at the door of my room when my husband was away. Why did you do it?"

George blushed the seven prismatic colors and turned to walk away. He had never seen the woman before and he being a very modest young man was overwhelmed with surprise and confusion.

The lady followed him up, however, and to his astonishment dealt him a right hander in the ear.

At this moment Policeman Smith approached her and caught hold of her.

"I would like you to walk with me to Dr. Spongole's office," he said.

The lady looked him over very critically and with a sweet smile replied, "Certainly, sir." Then she took his arm and they walked dingonally across the street amid the snickering and side remarks of the rude crowd, the gallant policeman blushing furiously and the lady smiling as though it was the most natural thing in the world.

The lady was taken to Dr. Spongole's office, where the Doctor quieted her. She had been a domestic in the doctor's family, but got married recently and resided a little ways out of town. She is subject to occasional spells of insanity and this was one of them. They do not attack her frequently and are not considered of a nature sufficiently serious to justify her commitment for insanity.

HILDRETH MINES.

Prospects in That Region Looking Up.

Lawyer E. E. Calhoun is down from Hildrethville and reports mining prospects as looking brighter in that camp. John Gilmour and A. Stayton who have been prospecting the extension of the old Hildreth mine, known as Volcano No. 1, have found pay rock in an eighty foot shaft and are erecting an arastra to work it. The prospect is very fine and promises a compensation for the seven months they have expended in prospecting the ledge.

The Dunphy heirs are having their portion of the ledge prospected, and a number of parties prospecting adjacent ledges and locations find rock that leads them to hope for a mild boom in the old town.

Sad Result of an Accident.

About two weeks ago, while the boys of Canal school were playing ball, Ralph Smith received a blow which cost him his life. One of the boys hit the ball a hard blow and it struck Ralph in the abdomen hurting him considerably, but it was not thought at the time that the accident would produce serious results. The blow caused inflammation, however, and he was soon taken violently sick. Several physicians were called to minister to the boy but all was of no avail, and the little fellow died Friday.

The circumstances which caused his death renders it a very sad one, and his playfellows feel very sorrowful over his untimely demise.—Selma Irrigator.

"These Results Are a Surprise."

An appreciative letter from a policyholder in the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States:

KEARER FALLS, Me, January 7, 1893.

F. H. Hazleton, Esq., Manager.

Dear Sir.—Yours of the 5th instant informing me of the maturity of my policy No. 78,484, in your company and your readiness to settle the same is received.

You inform me that I have the option of five different ways of settling my policy, among which are the following: I can take in cash $1767.30 or a paid-up policy of $2805.

These results, arising from my twenty-year endowment policy, are a surprise to me, as they were unexpected and contrary to the predictions of many hereabouts, who see no good in life assurance.

It appears from calculation that the cash value of my policy would be the aggregation of all my payments with 4½ per cent compound interest on the same.

With high respect for your fair and honorable dealing, I remain yours truly,

JORDAN STAVY.

The cash surrender value stated above is equal to a return of all the premiums paid, with simple interest on the same at the rate of 6 1-5 per cent per annum.

JOHNSON'S DEATH.

It Was Caused by too Much Alcohol.

A WARNING TO DRINKERS

Fatty Degeneration of the Heart and Liver Found on the Autopsy.

He Took No Poison.

Coroner Stephens held an inquest yesterday morning on the body of Andrew Johnson, the Swede who died in the county jail last Saturday. The jury returned a verdict of chronic alcoholism.

Jack Welty, a deputy Constable, testified that he went to Johnson's place on Walnut avenue with a warrant for the arrest of the deceased. Johnson went into the blacksmith shop for the purpose of changing his clothes. After waiting for some time the witness looked inside and found that Johnson had gone through the back door. On searching around the premises he found Johnson lying on his back in a ditch in the rear of the barn. He talked wildly in Swedish, threw himself violently about and acted like a man who had taken poison.

This testimony was corroborated by that of Deputy Constable C. A. Angel, who went with Welty to make the arrest.

Mrs. Christina Johnson, a daughter of the deceased, testified that the deceased was a native of Sweden and was born in 1827. He threatened several times recently to kill her and to hang her son, and she became so much alarmed that she went to town and swore to a complaint for his arrest on a charge of threats.

There was no poison in the house except a bottle of medicine and a bottle of acid used for soldering in the blacksmith shop. The deceased was of very intemperate habits and used to drink alcohol in water, and in his tea and coffee.

Carl Johnson, a son of the last witness, testified that his grandfather told the officers in the Swedish language that it was hard to die. The witness corroborated the testimony of the officers. He had often seen the deceased act in that way before.

Dr. J. L. Maupin, who attended Johnson in the jail, said that he saw no evidence of poison. He made a post mortem examination and found that the deceased was affected with fatty degeneration of the heart and liver caused by the excessive use of alcohol. In his opinion the cause of his death was chronic alcoholism.

Jailor Connelly testified as to the actions of the deceased when he was taken to jail.

THE PLAY.

A Good Show, With Excellent Special Features.

The star specialty company known as the Boston Howard Athenæums, entertained a fairly good house at the Barton last evening, and it was agreeable to discover that Fresno had not totally lost its reputation as a patron of art. It is a very clever combination, full of happy surprises and novel extremes.

The Brothers Dixon introduced many new musical features, one of which, a duet, was performed on a one-stringed instrument looking like a Japanese work box, and accompanied by the national instrument of England—a concertina. It made a charming combination, and was rich and sweet as their bell duet was lively and novel. "Bells on their fingers and bells on their toes," and bells on their foreheads tinkled in perfect harmony. There was the baritone leg, with its top boot of large bells, the falsetto arm with its smaller jinglers, and the mezzo crowning the head of the further Dixon.

O'Brien and Carroll did some very neat work, presenting their own songs and jokes. But the most chill producing spectacle was the body contortions of Madame Bertobbi.

Pretty, petite, graceful, with a witching smile she charmed you out of your breathless anxiety for her safe transfiguration into a comfortable feeling that you were not mind wandering.

It made the women shudder to see her unnatural twistings; and were they to attempt an accurate description of some of the feats performed by the little lady, their hearers, who had not been witnesses, would brand them as truth contortionists.

Fulgora, the transfigurator, kept the audience upright in their chairs on the qui vive to lose no motion of his rapid work. His change from man to woman was very clever, and generously applauded. His voice is very light, and the orchestra should take that into consideration as the words of his songs are essential to the perfection of impersonation.

James and Lucy Allison gave us nothing very new, but decidely English even to the exclusive kick of Lucy's right pedal extreme, which seems to be in better practice than her less favored left.

Kara, the juggler, is a worthy member of the company, and does not give too much at a time. It is often a mistake with these jugglers, making their audience work too hard to keep up with them; straining eyes and nerves to follow plates and such destructible property, and prepare for the crash should there escape.

The Misses Melville & Stetson in "O Ta Ra Ra" absurdity made one believe that here at last some flaw existed in the combination, for their voices did not chord, and the first violin fell a shade, but their succeeding work banished the belief, for their character song brought forth the cheers of the house.

Will Fox manages the piano well, attempting nothing in the classics, but keeping his hearers in good-natured expectation for more.

Le Roy, with his foreign accent and insinuating hands should be engaged as the "Rat-catcher of Hamelin" was, with this exception, he should exterminate the rabbits and kill the tamale trade.

Tomorrow night will witness "The County Fair," with the inimitable Neil Burgess and his animals.

CANDID CATARINA.

One rounded teaspoonful of Cleveland's Baking Powder does more and better work than a heaping teaspoonful of any other. A large saving on a year's bakings.

The best known writers on domestic science, as Marion Harland, Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Parker and Emily Hayes, and teachers of cookery, as Mrs. Rorer, Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Dearborn, use and recommend Cleveland's Baking Powder.

ANNIE EVA FAY.

HER PERFORMANCE LAST SUNDAY EVENING.

Some Clever Bits of Sleight of Hand—The Guitar Was Much Too Heavy.

Miss Annie Eva—no relation to the Culprit Fay—delighted the Spiritualists and amused the skeptics in Armory hall last Sunday night.

The majority of the Spiritualists hailed her as a genuine medium, while all the skeptics spoke of her as a tolerably clever sleight-of-hand performer.

Mr. Pingree, the lady's husband, made the opening speech. He generously informed the spectators that they were at liberty to place any interpretation they chose upon the performance of the great Fay. They might ascribe the phenomena to odic force, to electricity, to magnetism, to spirits, or to anything they chose. It was no doubt immaterial to Mr. Pingree so long as he got their cheats.

THE FAIR EVA.

The fair Eva appeared in a bridal costume minus the train. She was so thin, so spirituelle, so ghastly, so grayish blue of eye, so tawny of hair that she resembled a corpse freshly risen from the grave. Some of the sceptics wondered whether she had not been embalmed. It was a splendid ghost-like appearance for a medium and had a marked effect upon the true believers.

THE OLD STORY.

The performance was the old story of the post, the ring, the cotton ties and the cabinet familiar to frequenters of cabinet performances for the past twenty years. It was a similar performance with two exceptions to that given by her in Stockton twelve years ago. These exceptions were the box trick and the talking hand.

The talking hand is copied after Zamloch the magician's rapping table. But Zamloch used to set his table in the center aisle of the dress circle, and take his position on the stage twenty-five feet away, and the table would answer questions.

The poorest and clumsiest part of the entertainment was that in which Miss Fay, T. J. Kirk and a lady, whose name was not heard, sat in front of the cabinet with all but their hands and necks covered. Miss Fay's muscular contortions could be plainly seen as she lifted the guitar on the inside of the cabinet with her right hand by the end of the handle. It was however a good enough performance for the money.

Entering Portland Harbor.

This is the time of year when the storm tossed mariner should never be over confident that he is safely and certainly within Portland harbor. Again and again vessels almost ready to poke their noses past House island have been driven off the shore by a wintry northeaster, and with rigging iced, crew despairing, have been whirled off the coast for days, driven sometimes hundreds of miles away. Even a land lubber can realize how men would feel under these conditions after they had drawn almost near enough to the home fireside to feel its warmth. It was only a little while ago that a Portland captain, returning from a long voyage, had worked his vessel well up to the harbor's mouth.

Then in his profound relief he resigned the ship into the hands of his men, went below and proceeded to acquire unto himself a load that sagged that part of the ship mightily. So when that northeaster came down past old Seguin the captain didn't know a gale from a tune on a jewsharp. The nose of the plunging ship worked about slowly, but steadily, and in 15 minutes the vessel was flitting away to the south, squarely away from home and comfort. The captain never sobered off so quickly in all his life, but it was no use; he was in for it. For nine days they struggled with a raging sea, hundreds of miles off the coast, with iced rigging stiff as iron, and suffering everything but death. When the storm abated, and the captain finally toiled weakly into Portland harbor, he was sober—there's not the least doubt about that.—Lewiston Journal.

Reclamation Districts.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday and granted two petitions to form reclamation districts in township 14, south of range 23 east, on Kings river. The first petition was filed by Thomas E. Hughes, H. B. Choler, et al, and the second by A. M. Clark, J. D. Collins, I. N. Hyde and others.

The Age of Presidents.

When he is inaugurated next March Mr. Cleveland will lack but a few days of being 56 years old, which is precisely the average age of presidents on their accession. The oldest president was William Henry Harrison, who was 68; Buchanan was 62; Taylor, 65; Jackson and Adams, 62; Monroe, 59; Jefferson, Madison and J. Q. Adams, 58; Benjamin Harrison, 56; Hayes, 54; Lincoln, 52; Tyler and Arthur, 51; Polk and Fillmore, 50; Garfield and Pierce, 49; Cleveland, 48, and Grant, the youngest president, 47.—Savannah News.

Nickel has long been known to exist in the Black Hills region. Many claims have lately been staked out, and specimens brought in from several large deposits show a large percentage of nickel and from $5 to $10 gold to the ton.

A few days ago at Quebec 12 brothers and five sisters had their pictures taken in a group. They are the children of a couple, both living, named Colman, are all grown and have families.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

AN ENJOYABLE PICNIC HELD AT REEDLEY.

Several Good Speeches, Recitations, Songs, and a Day of Enjoyment Generally.

The picnic of the Good Templars at Reedley was a great success. Seats and a speaker's stand having been provided they were taken possession of by the large crowd. The exercises were begun by the District Templar, Brother D. S. Irving, calling the audience to order and introducing the G.C.T., Brother B. H. Hoag as president of the day. The opening ode of the order was sung by the many Good Templars present, followed by an invocation by Brother Rev. P. H. B. Anderson of Fresno, followed by an able address of welcome by Brother M. E. Brooks of Reedley, and a witty and able response on the part of the order and audience in general by D.T., Brother D. S. Ewing of Fowler.

Remarks were made by the president of the day, stating the object of the meeting to be for the purpose of winning to its principles of total abstinence and prohibition the masses of the people, and to enlist members for the order in its noble work. A song appropriate to the occasion was then rendered by the choir, when Mrs. M. E. Richardson, general superintendent of juvenile work, was introduced and gave a 15-minutes address, portraying the interest the order takes in the juvenile work and urging that more interest should be taken by all in this branch of the work.

Then came the address of the day by Mrs. J. C. Stone of Ohio, grand lecturer of the grand lodge. Much had been expected of her as a speaker, but she certainly exceeded the expectations. Fact after fact came, captivating her hearers with her convincing array of argument.

The general verdict of all present was that they were glad of the opportunity of hearing the speaker, and they emphasized it by giving a $25 collection for the lady.

After lunch and a short time spent in social and other enjoyments, boating, fishing and in riding the flying horses of the merry go round, one and another expressing a desire to hear more, Dr. Anderson was prevailed upon to take the platform, and he made one of his best efforts to the great pleasure of his large audience, followed by several pieces sung by the Reedley chorus; and also several recitations were given by different persons.

At 4.30 o'clock the train came to a standstill at the bridge and all who desired embarked for Sanger and Fresno; others soon commenced to think of home and soon all was silence in the grove.

A pleasanter and a more enjoyable picnic is not often held, all having voted it a success. ONE OF THEM.

Room For Improvement.

It doesn't seem possible that we could get any worse postal service than we are getting now, and young blood may be an improvement. The way newspaper mail is handled is especially outrageous. Washington city is but six hours from New York, and yet the Washington Sunday morning papers are not delivered here till Monday. Pittsburg is but 12 hours from here, and the Pittsburg Sunday papers are not delivered here at the newsstands before 9 or 4 o'clock Monday, and not to individual subscribers until Monday night. Not infrequently Monday's paper gets to the subscribers before the Sunday issue. Chicago is but a day off, yet it takes two and sometimes three days to reach the New York subscribers of a Chicago morning newspaper. I get papers from these cities and know this is so, and I know it is the same with other newspaper mail.

The letter mail is uncertain. Sometimes it is on time, more frequently not. Sometimes a letter mailed in New York to an address in the same city will reach the party addressed within a couple of hours—very often not the same day. The whole postal service seems to have become demoralized and uncertain. In short, it is outrageous and ought to be amended without delay.—New York Herald.

Commotion Produced by an Embossed Egg.

On Tuesday, at the residence of Mr. William Early at Pine Valley, was found an egg having the following in raised letters on the shell: "The judgment day is now at hand. All ye take warning." The news soon spread over the entire community and created intense excitement, especially among the children and negroes. Some were crying, some were singing, some praying, and all were repenting.

The egg was laid by the favorite hen and under the front doorstep, and there was to be a dance that night, and Mr. Early's wife and daughter were the two most popular dancers in the community, while he was the violinist for the occasion, but the finding of this egg broke up the pleasures of the evening.

The excitement among the negroes prevailed all day and night. Some prayed all night, and one old negro after wrestling with his sins all night, and was on his knees supplicating his Master's mercy upon him, heard a bugle blown by one of his neighbors and fell prostrate to the ground from fear of the idea that it was Gabriel's trumpet.—Cor. Galveston News.

A Western Tragedy.

The Sauntérer has a friend on the staff of a western newspaper with whom he often exchanges interesting clippings. The latest bit received at this office was the following, cut from a small paper published in North Dakota: "The many friends of Mrs. E—— will be pleased to learn that she is not in serious danger, as the shock is not so severe as at first supposed. The particulars of the unfortunate affair are interesting. It seems that Mrs. E—— while going up stairs saw a mouse run behind a barrel. Her cries were heard by the hired man, who listened to the scene, armed with his gun and followed by his faithful bulldog. Mrs. E—— then took courage and poked the barrel with her broom. The mouse ran out, the dog started in pursuit, the hired man fired, the dog dropped dead, Mrs. E—— fainted, and the hired man, thinking he had killed her, and that he would be arrested for murder, took to his heels and has not been heard of since. The mouse escaped."—Boston Budget.

SWEETER THAN A BEST GIRL.

Sugar, Molasses and Honey Are Nowhere in Comparison With Saccharine.

An industry still young, but unprecedentedly with a great mercantile future, is that of saccharine, a product of coal tar. It is a substitute for sugar, has none of its bulk and is so powerful that it is 300 times sweeter. The history of its discovery is interesting.

In 1879 Dr. Constantine Fahlberg, a Russian by birth, but who had been educated in Germany, became connected with the Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore. There he conducted a series of experiments on the toluene sulphamides, in order to investigate their oxidation products.

The outgrowth of this investigation was the discovery of saccharine. By oxidizing pure orthotoluene sulphamide it was found that it would yield a remarkably sweet compound. The amount obtained, however, was too small to be of any practical value for manufacturing purposes. The problem thenceforth was to find other reactions which would give a better yield of the sweet body. A long and exhaustive series of laboratory experiments extending through several years were necessary for the satisfactory development of the chemical process of production.

As might be expected, a discovery of such practical utility had to run the gantlet of much hostile criticism. It formed a fruitful subject for discussion in various scientific societies and journals. Attempts were made to show that it was not only deleterious, but dangerous. It is only fair to say, however, that these arguments seem to have been successfully controverted. An overwhelming mass of expert testimony is recorded in favor of saccharine. Eminent professors, like Sir H. E. Roscoe in London, Leyden in Berlin, Paul in Paris, Von Barth in Vienna, and a host of others, after thorough tests, have certified that the effects of saccharine upon the physical and psychical functions of the brute and human systems are entirely harmless.

Saccharine in its pure condition is a white powder. Various exclusive advantages are claimed for its use in the arts, household and medicine. To enumerate a few: It is so small in bulk that the saving in storage and freight is of course very great; its valuable antiseptic qualities make it especially available in preserving as well as sweetening articles of food, such as jellies, fruits, etc. In the distilling of brandies and liquors and in the brewing of beer saccharine has been used with signal success. Mixed with glucose, saccharine has a sweetness equal to the finest refined sugar. Further, saccharine serves a distinctly medical purpose. It is employed to disguise the unpleasant taste of medicine and in the preparation of medicated wines and other cordials. It has also been highly indorsed as a substitute for sugar for those suffering from diabetes and from fatness. Unlike sugar, it does not go to form surplus nourishment. Finally it may be added that this highly concentrated sweetening substance requires only a little intelligence to be successfully used in the household.—Washington Star.

The Most Despicable Man.

The man whom I thoroughly and positively hate, and against whom as a type I would warn young women, as the board of health officers warn the public against infection with a scarlet fever card, is the domestic tyrant, the man who is a bully in his own family, the man who is a hero at home and a coward among bigger men than he. When he was a boy, he loved to torture kittens, trap rabbits and tease birds by breaking up their nests and cracking their eggs. But a yearling calf or a sitting hen would always make him run. Now he is a man, he swears at his wife and nags her like unto. He sends the cold chills down the children's spines whenever his steps draw nigh and is as pompous and big feeling among the women folks and the helpless boys and girls as a fussy old turkey gobbler with his hens.

Fun can no more thrive where he is than pussies can live in coal gas. He is civil to the black man who gives him his dinner, to the boy—provided he is full sized—who blacks his boots and to whoever is richer and stronger than he, but politeness for his wife was laid away with his wedding garments, and he curses his daughters and his sons for every trifling misdemeanor in a way that would rouse a newsboy to thrash him if he spoke to the lad with equal insolence.—Chicago Herald.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

How He Formed His Opinion.

Jim Thornton, who just now occupies a position of extreme prominence in the Tenderloin precinct, hasn't a very high opinion of human intelligence as displayed in the swell cafes. He tells this story to show that his opinion in this respect is correct:

During the recent excitement about the nearness of Mars to the earth he was sitting in the rear room of a Broadway cafe flat broke, but very thirsty. He had nothing to do, so he sat down and wrote a song, which he called "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon."

When he finished it he offered it to the bartender for a couple of drinks and a dollar. The bartender laughed at him, and Jim walked away with his thirst and the song. Pretty nearly every one knows the song now, and the royalty from it allows Jim to spend over $30 a week in the cafes all over town.—New York Journal.

The Society has about double the surplus of any other live assurance company, a larger income, a larger number and amount of policies in force, and transacts a larger annual new business than any other life assurance company in the world.

But the Directors of the Society deem the quality of its risks and the economy of its management more important than the volume of new business obtained.

While the expenses of management of the Society have for a number of years been less than those of other prominent companies, they show a further improvement in 1892, indicated by a reduction of 2 per cent in the ratio of expenses to total income, which represents a saving to policy holders of $800,000 during the year.

The chief end and aim of the management of the Society is to conduct its affairs with more judicious economy, if possible, than ever before, with special regard to the earning of SURPLUS, out of which DIVIDENDS are made for policy holders.
